AutoCAD is the foremost commercial CAD application and is used by over 170,000 users around the world. It is a comprehensive suite that offers 2D design tools, drafting tools, modeling tools, and animation tools for 2D and 3D work. AutoCAD covers every facet of design from 2D drafting and modeling to 3D drawing and visualization. The History of AutoCAD

AutoCAD was originally developed by Perkin-Elmer. Perkin-Elmer sold it to Autodesk in 1992. In 1994, Autodesk acquired a large portion of Perkin-Elmer's engineering-software division, including the AutoCAD product line, which Autodesk continued to develop and market. In 2010, Autodesk spun off its software business into a new company, Autodesk Inc. AutoCAD is Autodesk's most popular product line. The AutoCAD line is a family of CAD applications that includes the flagship AutoCAD software, as well as AutoCAD LT, AutoCAD LT Authoring, AutoCAD Civil 3D, AutoCAD eDrawings, and AutoCAD 360. AutoCAD 360 is an integrated suite that combines the functionality of these other applications into one package. AutoCAD LT (AutoCAD Line Drawing) is a free, light-weight, vector-based drawing program.

AutoCAD History Highlights AutoCAD is the first desktop application to utilize the Windows graphical user interface (GUI). The Graphical User Interface (GUI) provides a simple, easy-to-use interface that is intuitive and easy to learn. This is important because most users will be new to CAD and drafting. In 1985, Autodesk introduced 2D Drafting to the market. Since then, AutoCAD has gone through numerous versions and revisions. 1994: Autodesk's acquisition of Perkin-Elmer's engineering-software division in 1994. 1994: AutoCAD LT (AutoCAD Line Drawing) released. 1995:

election cycle, everyone looks at the incumbent party and asks: “How can we beat the shit out of this bunch of stupid twits?” We in the Republican party have never considered the question: “How can we turn this bunch of incompetent assholes into a viable governing organization?” Our sole criterion for presidential candidates is: “Does he/she have great hair?” We measure candidates by how many old farts they can con into voting for them. We consider no other factor. We are in the process of committing political suicide.
Republican voters are the most ignorant, racist, homophobic and sexually repressed voters in the history of the world. We are in the throes of a mental and spiritual emergency. We are not being told the truth. I have a question: Why do we hate each other? Why do we want to destroy each other? Why do we continue to elect morons? Why do we continue to let morons run this country? Why do we continue to follow the path of insanity? You have a list of senators you hate, a list of senators you can't stand, a list of senators that have the least chance of getting elected, and a list of elected members of congress who have lost their way. Your lists don't include: Sebold, Roy Moore Buttigieg, Pete Buttigieg Sanders, Bernie Sanders Trump, Donald Trump Rubio, Marco Rubio Cruz, Ted Cruz Hook, Chris Christie Weinhold, Ben Sasse These men and women are not your enemies ca3bfb1094
