A: The administrative consent is just a way that the app is given permission to use restricted features in iOS. It's required for the app to be published to the App Store for the first time and it can also be used to extend access to restricted features for your app so it can be distributed to customers. For more information, see "iOS 6.1 Released: iOS App Ratings & Reviews" What is it for? It allows your app to access restricted features of iOS, such as uploading App Store content to iTunes Connect, including the app store icon, the ability to upload screenshots, and access to the non-public administrative pages of the store.
