Dyfrdanner is the name of a region in the centre of the Scottish highlands. In this region exist some of the most beautiful lochs, mountains and forests there are. It's a beautiful region, with many places to visit. This day is very special for the people of the area. The two families who manage Dyfrdanner are the MacGregor family and the Smith family. Today is a day of celebration for them, it is also a day for the people to enjoy themselves. There will be lots of sports events, and other activities, a lot of different things to do, both on the land and at sea. I live on the Scottish island of Skye, and work as a freelance writer, I spend my time taking photos of both the landscape of Skye, the sky and the places I visit, using a camera in the hope to get a bit of recognition from the various websites, my website being one of them. I am really enjoying the photography, and the only problem is that the only camera I own is a cheap little phone, so I will have to start saving up for a real camera soon, as the photos that I take are quite small.
