French Economy Ministry secures €500 million loan for Morocco to boost investment projects Brussels - 16 January 2019 - The French Economy Ministry has awarded French bank Societe Generale a €500 million loan to finance the Moroccan government's investment projects. This loan will help to support investment projects such as road and ports development to be implemented under the country's Morocco Growth Plan (programme Développement Morocco du Plan), a term used to refer to the country's development plans, particularly "Morocco 2050". France and Morocco establish a strategic partnership in a wide range of areas, including the economy and trade. This project will be the first such loan to the Moroccan government, following an agreement signed in October 2018 between the president of the French Economic Development Agency Atout France (now the French Institute for International Development) as well as the governor of the Bank of Morocco. Last year, the French Institute for International Development awarded €73.9 million to Morocco to support the country's economic development, with the investment being made in a €184.7 million support project for the Moroccan government's development projects. The Moroccan government completed an investment plan in Morocco's development that foresees expenditure of €1.7 billion for Morocco 2050 between 2018 and 2050. "This loan from France will help to support the Moroccan government's investment projects, by financing infrastructure and transport infrastructures, including the Sultan Moulay Idris Bridge", said Philippe Lallier, Member of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of the French Economy Ministry's Directorate of the Business Development and Entrepreneurship. "This financing will help the Moroccan government to implement the Moroccan Growth Plan, announced on 12 October 2018, and implemented since then", said Lallier.

Just southeast of the town is the Lamar junction on Kentucky Route 18. Lamar was the site of the public hanging of Sam Dale (of "Death on the Water") by the state on July 24, 1843. "Lamar" is named for James T. Lamar, the first US commissioner of Indian Affairs. Category:Unincorporated communities in Madison County, Kentucky Category:Unincorporated communities in KentuckyField of the Invention The present invention relates to an information processing apparatus, a method for controlling the same, and a non-transitory recording medium. Description of the Related Art So far, mobile terminals provided with an imaging function, such as smartphones or tablet terminals, have been widespread. Such a mobile terminal displays an object captured by a camera as an image. An end user selects a certain object image from among a plurality of captured object images displayed on a display of the mobile terminal. With the imaging function, the mobile terminal typically stores a captured object image in a storage medium in addition to the object image that has been selected by the end user. In the past, the mobile terminal has typically stored the selected object image in the storage medium together with an audio file that allows the end user to listen to an audio file while viewing the object image. However, in the past, if the audio file is selected together with the object image that has been selected by the end user, the audio file selected together with the object image that has been selected by the end user has been stored in the storage medium. Therefore, if the user selects the audio file together with the object image while viewing the object image in the display, the user is allowed to listen to the audio file while viewing the object image. As a result, the object image selected by the end user is able to be listened to without causing any problem even if the user selects the audio file together with the object image that has been selected by the end user. However, with the past technique, the audio file is stored together with the object image, and hence only one audio
