He was the first pope elected from a member of the Latin Rite Church to be canonised as a Catholic saint. Early life John XXIII was born as Giuseppe Giovanni Benedetto Marie Xavier Giuseppe Gabriele Annibale Fabio Crispi in Naples, Italy, the son of Anastasio and Rosa (née Baldoni) Crispi. His grandfather, Francesco Crispi, was Prime Minister of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies and later president of the Italian Senate and his great-grandfather, Giuseppe Crispi, was a senator for the same kingdom. He was baptized in the church of San Domenico. As a young priest, he assisted Giovanni Maria Vian, Bishop of Spoleto, who later became the first person canonised as a saint. Crispis received the name "John" at his baptism, "XXIII" at his confirmation, and "Paul" at his ordination as a priest. He was also known as "Giuseppe" or "Pio". In 1912, as a young priest, he became the first recipient of the Fraternity of Saint Philip Neri. Like his brother, Francesco, Giuseppe was fascinated with hieroglyphics. Priesthood Upon his ordination as a priest in 1903, he was given the diocese of Albano-Lacedonia in Italy. The following year he was transferred to the diocese of Portogruaro, and in 1908, he was made the Bishop of Sessa Aurunca. After being named Bishop of Trivento in 1926, he became Apostolic Administrator of the see of Florence and died there in a Maserati car accident during an inspection trip 3a67dffeec
