Intro The mysterious island that lies in the distance is about to become the most dangerous place in the world!! You are the captain of an airship named Mutiny!! Its job is to detect and destroy enemy ships and protect the shipping trade routes of the world. It's up to you to control the explosions of the airship and control the Mutiny!! Adventure Intro This game's story is set in a modern future, where the war between humanity and the Debris Federation has just begun. The war started because people grew tired of the Debris Federation's rule that a single society can't have any imports from the outside world. Fortunately the Debris Federation is extremely rich in resources and so they bought over the governments and banks of the independent countries. The people of these countries became subserviant to the Debris Federation and even after the start of the war continued to support them. After the war started, it took 3 years for the Government to realize that the war had been going on for quite a while. So they decided to do something about it by sending in some people. These people were no more than children, and they were sent on a dangerous mission to the territory controlled by the Debris Federation. In order to prepare the children for this mission, they went on training, following the path of military training. As they grew up, a special project started that would bring them to an end. Adventure Challenge You're in for another adventure! You've arrived at the planet known as Cold Desert 1 of Green Desert. Your mission is to destroy the five outposts located on this planet. You have to think carefully in order to make sure you won't be seen by the soldiers that patrol this planet, because their uniforms are visible from far off. The best way to do this is by using the terrain to your advantage. Bustling Town The island that you're looking at is seen as an impressive sight by the people of the village in the background. Despite not being seen from a distance, it's actually a secret place for the people of the island community. There's a secret plane landing that takes people to this place, but they don't know about it. Underwater Ruins This city has been taken

There are over twenty different endings to uncover!Q: Using > input to select only a certain number of elements i'm doing practice problems in the past few months, and have usually written a function to return a list of all the elements matching the selector. For example, the function findAll = function (sel, elms) { return [x || x -= sel ] } is used to get a list with each element of the list elms that is greater than or equal to the selector sel. But I was wondering, could I make a function that could be used to get a list with, say, the first 3 elements of that list. I want to generalize this idea to a list of n elements, but it seems impossible. A: Here is one way. It uses Racket. You can write the function as (define (pick n items) (list-ref (list-filter (lambda (x) (and ( of the Game of Thrones? That was the fantasy-novelish-slash-video-game's status as the top-seller in France as of Tuesday. French retailers will usually receive a bulk shipment of popular titles, something desirable in a market where there's so little video game merchandise. This year, they are also receiving six videogames (including Atelier Anna for the PS2, and Disney Epic Mickey, a downloadable game for the PS3), and these are among the top five games that were sold in France. The top seller is, as usual, Diablo III, which is the fifth best-selling game of all time. Having talked to GameStop, I can confirm that the UK did not get Diablo III last week. Street date was October 22, around the time that the French gamemakers get their shipments. Been too long since I posted about this. I, too, had a PS3 for Christmas. Unfortunately, it was so junky the company decided to take it back because there were other consoles which they felt were better suited for me. Had I kept my Xbox, I would have been spoiled for Christmas! So last night I came home to my old 360 (in Canada). So, naturally, I decided to record a game. I played many of the games right away, but my favorite thus far was Fallout 3. I have spent a lot of time in that world and since it was so close to Christmas I thought I would explore. I spent a lot of time in those snowy, southern US towns/cities and was very happy to see everything come back to life. What's amazing to me is this is the third game I own. I bought at least 2 others at some point. So, at 6 games, that is the most I have ever owned. Usually, you don't want to own anything more than 2 of something if you can avoid it. I may play them all in the coming days and see if I have my favorite yet. out before they start. Once that happens, it is extremely hard to change afterwards and we've seen that manifest itself across different industries. My fear is we get to the point where we say "We know how to do that" and then don't know how to implement it [anymore], and that is, again, a steep learning curve. And, by the way, it's all the programmers
