Turkey's top opposition party Republican People's Party (CHP) accuses the government of planning to introduce a new bill that would amend the constitution to abolish the semiautonomous Kurdistan Regional Government (KRG).1. Field of the Invention The invention relates to a semiconductor structure and fabrication method and more particularly to a method of forming a semiconductor structure with high-k/metal gate structure. 2. Description of Related Art In the past, as the size of the metal oxide semiconductor transistor (MOS) is continuously scaled down, the gate dielectric of the MOS transistor, which is used as the capacitor insulator of the MOS capacitor, needs to be reduced to avoid degradation of the electric field intensity applied to the gate dielectric caused by the high equivalent-oxide-dielectric (EOT) layer. However, the electric field intensity applied to the gate dielectric is still not enough to prevent current leakage induced by hot carrier injection. The leakage current in the threshold voltage Vt has been one of the critical issues that the semiconductor devices need to overcome. To overcome the above issue, high-k/metal gate structure has been proposed. However, it is not easy to control the threshold voltage of the MOS transistor and further improve the reliability of the transistors. Therefore, a novel method of forming the semiconductor structure with high-k/metal gate structure is provided to solve the above-mentioned problem. }
===== In conclusion, we present a new high-throughput microfluidic system with a volatile reagent which allows uniform and precise quantification of low concentrations of DNA and RNA. We believe this technique will form the basis of a new generation of high-throughput instruments, enabling the quantification of many replicates in a single chip and opening new possibilities in microfluidic applications for molecular and cellular biology. The microfluidic chip provides a robust platform to analyze low concentration samples, especially DNA
