Their new concept is a counter where you order online in five to ten minutes, and then pick up your order, eat, and go. Read more Each time I make a smoothie, I get the strangest combo of ingredients when my smoothie comes up: high-fiber cereals and low-fat milk. These ingredients make a very thick smoothie, and adding fresh fruit doesn't help much because it would thicken it more. I know I'm supposed to get health-conscious at my age, but I can't stand it anymore. I don't feel much like eating the stuff, either. We'll stick with the machines. Read more I'm not a huge smoothie fan. At $5.99 for a 2.5-ounce cup, I'm also not a fan of paying $4.00 for milk, which is what I get when I get my smoothie. A dollar a day for a smoothie cup is a pretty good deal. Yes, I know, it's not a gallon of milk, but what am I supposed to
