Q: Android widget - where is the "update" option? I'm developing an Android widget. I've been trying to add an update feature to the widget itself, but I can't find it anywhere in the documentation. It should be somewhere in the WidgetProvider or the build() function, but I can't seem to find it. Widgets update in the background via the updateAppWidgetConfig() method. The documentation says this is run every time the widget updates, but I can't seem to find the way to run it. Did I miss a step somewhere? Can anyone help me? A: just run the build() method and you should get the result. the build() function is the real update that happens for the widget. hope it helps [The fungicide copper-mediated thymidine dimer formation: relationship between DNA unwinding and alkaline degradation in vivo]. We investigated the effects of the fungicide copper on the alkaline degradation of nucleic acids and the biological activities of copper, in order to understand the molecular basis of the carcinogenicity of copper. It was demonstrated that copper-mediated thymidine dimer formation was involved in the alkaline degradation of nucleic acids in whole cells. On the other hand, it was also shown that copper-mediated thymidine dimer formation had little effect on the DNA binding of various transcription factors, but could cause DNA damage to the coding region, which might lead to the overexpression of the mutant variant, of the tumor suppressor p53. These results suggest that the copper-mediated thymidine dimer formation is closely related to carcinogenesis and mutagenesis, in addition to the copper-mediated thymidine dimerization causing oxidative stress.Q: Should we add a tag for iOS 2.0? We already have tags for iOS 3.2, iOS 4.2 and iOS 5.0. But there is no tag for iOS 2.0. Should we add a tag for iOS 2.0? A: There's no particular benefit to having the tag at this time. As someone who works with an iPad, I'm still stuck on the 2.0 firmware - it'd be fun to have a tag, but it doesn't really need one. 1. Q: iOS Facebook Login Implementation Currently I am implementing Facebook Login into my app. So far I have went through the Facebook Developer Guide and i have managed to do some coding for the SDK and the FBML. However my question is about the login process. I would like to know, how to redirect the user to the FB App if they are already logged into Facebook, should I get their access token and compare it with mine to verify if they are logged in on both apps? If anyone can provide some help on how to implement it, would really appreciate it. Thanks. A: You can add the Delegate of your FacebookSDK and check if is logged in with, for example, this method: -(BOOL) isSessionValid { NSArray *permissions = [[NSArray alloc] initWithObjects:@"user_photos", @"user_location", nil]; return [FBSession.activeSession.permissions indexOfObject:permissions]!= NSNotFound; } In this case, you'll have to handle both the Facebook version of the permissions, that are located at NSArray *permissions = [[NSArray alloc] initWithObjects:@"publish_stream", @"user_photos", nil]; and the App version, that are located at NSArray *permissions = [[NSArray alloc] initWithObjects:@"publish_stream", @"user_photos", @"user_location", nil]; That's it! Q: Error when running exe using command prompt So I recently decided that I wanted to make a windows c++ program that does tasks a bit more user friendly than the default. I'm getting the following error when trying to run the exe file. I don't know what this error means. I have tried a few things, but I can't seem to find a solution. " ran out of main memory" Any help would be greatly appreciated. Here is my code. #include #include #include using namespace std; int main(int argc, char* argv[]) { //
