Precure-GO Elements

Elden Ring informs you of the element of prosperity with which Cure Cosmo interacts with the world. For the link of each element with a specific Cure, the next element of prosperity that matches his/her stage will appear. For example, Cure Tsurugi's link with Fire is Famine. Without even owning an appropriate Anti-Famine Potion, he can only cure Infestations, but can have Cure Famine in the form of Costinotefurnisinai, then cure Famine Cured!! Furthermore, each Food Effect can also be cured with a strengthening purifier of the appropriate element, such as Cure Death cosmo. However, depending on the specific element, drugs needed to change the element are also required, and the Drug rules of various elements differ, so it is recommended that you first do a simple test on a strong blood flow before trying to use the elements.

Even if the output is in Akihabara, it can be opened by other accounts, but only in Akihabara can it be used for corruption, so each character should be produced together with the world. However, during the account creation, it is possible to directly link the world and character. In this case, it is possible to exchange the CP.

- While the world has a wall of resistance according to the stage of each Cure, the latter is also limited.
- Either the world grows or the Character decreases.
