

The credit amount the qualified small business may use is not to exceed 35 percent of the credit amount available to the small business. The qualified small business may use the full credit if it submits the lowest bid of $10,000 or less on Spectrum Blocks A through V. If a qualified small business, as defined in 90.912(b)(1), is bidding on Spectrum Blocks A through V, it may use a credit of 25 percent of the amount of credit that is available to it and the consortium of small businesses. The credit amount each qualified small business may use is not to exceed 25 percent of the credit amount available to the small business. A consortium of contractors is a group of small businesses that agree to bid as a single business on federal government projects. Consortium members are not required to be paid at or under cost, and they do not employ less than 50 full-time workers. But consortium members must satisfy all three of the following requirements to qualify: The consortium of contractors is composed of three or fewer businesses; Each business is a contractor; and The consortium of contractors employs 50 or fewer full-time employees. A contractor is a business performing service work on a government project. A contractor that qualifies as a small business may reduce the amount of the cost or value of the work provided on the basis of the contractor's employment on the project. A contractor that qualifies as a very small business may reduce the amount of the cost or value of the work provided on the basis of the contractor's employment on the project. To qualify, a contractor must satisfy all three of the following requirements: The contractor is paid at or under cost for the work performed on the project; The contractor employs 50 or fewer employees; and The total annual gross domestic product of the contractor for the preceding calendar year is $20 million or less.
